Directions: Read and annotate Toni Morrison's novel Song of Solomon. Choose ONE of the prompts below on this Padlet to answer using specific examples/details from the novel. Then respond to two other posts by expanding on your classmate's answer with other examples, questioning your classmate's interpretation, or arguing for a different interpretation or perspective.

1. Choose any ONE piece of art from this power point: Analytical Art Connections. (ie: a painting, a song, a poem, a sculpture) and make an analytical connection between the artwork and the novel Song of Solomon that shows your understanding of character or theme. Use specific details from the novel.
2. How does Morrison present/define black manhood, masculinity, womanhood, or femininity in her work? Give one example from the novel and analyze.
3. What journeys must a person take, both metaphorical and physical, to find his/her true self? Support your answer with an example from the novel.
4. What is the message Morrison sends to her readers through this work about being human? Use specific details from the novel to support your answer.
