NEWS: AMY CONEY BARRET APPOINTED TO THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT

NOVEMBER 29, 2020 | PAIGE BOLLINGER | 23 COMMENTS

The passing of Justice Ruth Bader Ginsberg on September 18 led to both a vacancy on the United States Supreme Court and profound grief across the nation from all who respected and loved her. She earned the reputation as a courageous advocate for women's equality and a role model to millions, and therefore is the subject of many novels and documentaries, such as the bibliography and memoir, My Own Words, and the film, "RBG". For her remarkable legacy, Ginsberg will never be forgotten.

Finding a justice who is qualified and respected enough for a seat on the highest court in the land was not an easy task, but Judge Amy Coney Barret, a judge on the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, was nominated by President Trump as Ginsberg's successor. Following confirmation by the U.S. Senate, she was sworn in on October 27, making her the 115th Associate Justice and fifth woman to be appointed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Barrett possesses a prestigious record as a judge, professor, and litigator. She graduated Summa Cum Laude from the Notre Dame School of Law in 1997, where she earned the Hoynes Prize as the top student in her class and served as executive editor of the Notre Dame Law Review. She returned to Notre Dame as a professor in 2002 and acquired a sterling reputation, receiving honors for her expertise in the subjects of federal courts, constitutional law and statutory interpretation. From 1999 to 2002, Barrett practiced law as a litigator at Miller, Cassidy, Larroca & Lewin, which in 2001 merged with the Baker and Botts law firm. When serving on the Seventh Circuit from 2017-2020, her work was described as "rigorous, fair-minded, respectful, and constructive"(whitehouse.gov).

Barrett is 48 years old and a devout Roman Catholic. She has seven children, two of whom were adopted from Haiti. Many expect her to push the Supreme Court in a more conservative direction, due to her views on abortion, gun rights, and immigration. During her confirmation hearings, however, Barret vowed to be fair and unbiased. At the Judicial Oath Ceremony, she stated that “the oath that I have solemnly taken tonight means at its core that I will do my job without any fear or favor, and that I will do so independently of both the political branches and of my own preferences.”

Barrett’s duty and devotion are aimed toward upholding the United States Constitution. Her impressive record and accomplishments as a professor and judge indicate that she will continue to do so as she fulfills her important duty to the nation.
